

Dear Commissioners,

When the constitution guaranteed freedom of the press, I don't believe they had one, single company in mind. The intent was to have multiple sources of information. The probably also meant multiple opinions, not one opinion over print, radio, TV, cable, satellite, and Internet. If anything you should limit ownership and force divestiture, not encourage further consolidation.

By the way, whatever happened to enforcing the law? How did Rupert Murdoch get control of Fox TV when he was/is a foreigner?
